Dear Fellow Member:

One of the activities of Eta Sigma Phi to which its members and alumni can point with great pride is the scholarship program which annually provides two awards for summer study in Athens and Rome. Resources for these awards are provided in large measure from the Fraternity’s Endowment Fund. Income from the Endowment Fund is, however, not sufficient to pay the costs of the scholarships and the Eta Sigma Phi contests. Presently this latter program is supported entirely by an anonymous donor.

Since this is the case, the Board of Trustees has recommended that the Fraternity increase the Endowment Fund to the point where these two programs are nearly supported by the accrued annual interest.

The national officers feel that this is a very appropriate time to accelerate our efforts to increase the fund, since Professor H. R. Butts, our Executive Secretary for thirteen years, is retiring, and a contribution in his honor would be a fine way to show our gratitude for his many services.

I hope every chapter will make a contribution in proportion to its financial means to spur the drive on and to show our appreciation for the generous services of Professor Butts.

Looking forward to seeing you in Chicago.

Sincerely yours,

N. Hartley Schearer

Eta Sigma Phi Scholars for 1968

The recipients of the Eta Sigma Phi Scholarships for the summer of 1968 are well known to the members of the Fraternity, since each was selected as a national officer. It is to the credit of the Fraternity that its officers are such able Classical scholars.

Theodore A. Berkold, Megas Grammateus of last year, is our Scholar to the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. He is an alumnus of Gamma Lambda Chapter and received his B.A. degree last year from St. Mary’s College where he majored in Classical Languages and minored in philosophy. Ted learned Latin songs in the one-room school which he attended near Lake City, Minnesota. He is now a graduate student at St. Paul Seminary in St. Paul, Minnesota, and after four years of study there and ordination he plans to teach Classical Languages in one of the schools of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Winona. He has already made his plans for the summer, which include a visit to the British Museum in London on his way to Athens and a stay with some friends in Rome on his return trip.

Eddie R. Lowry, our present Megas Chrysophylax, was awarded the Scholarship to the American Academy in Rome. Eddie is a native of Fredericksburg, Virginia, a member of Beta Theta Chapter, and a senior at Hampden-Sydney College, where he is majoring in Latin and in Greek. He received the Phi Beta Kappa Junior Year Award and studied Latin paleography at Hampden-Sydney College last summer on a research grant. He was selected for Who’s Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges and he has recently appeared before the interviewers for the Danforth Graduate Fellowship Program. He plans to be a college teacher of Classics.

Fortieth National Convention

The Fortieth National Convention of Eta Sigma Phi Fraternity will convene at the Sherman House Hotel in Chicago, Illinois, at 9:00 A.M. on March 29, 1968. Megas Prytanis N. Hartley Schearer, assisted by Megas Hyparchos David L. Thompson, Megas Grammateus John Armbrust, and Megas Chrysophylax Eddie R. Lowry, will preside at the business sessions on Friday, March 29, and Saturday, March 30. Among important items of business for this meeting are consideration of petitions for charters to found chapters of Eta Sigma Phi from several institutions and the selection of a new Executive Secretary. Prytanis Catherine Dix and members of Beta Xi Chapter at Rosary College are the hostesses for the meeting. Sister Florence Marie, C.S.J., is the Adviser of Beta Xi Chapter, and Hyparchos Sue Engle and Grammateus Cynthia Skarbek are the other officers of the chapter.

An innovation of this national convention will be a luncheon for the delegates at noon on Friday instead of the usual banquet. Megas Prytanis Schearer requested this change in order that the delegates might have more time to enjoy the convention city. City Towers with model apartments, which may be visited, and the Chicago Civic Center where Piens- sov's controversial gift may be studied, are other tourist spots. Some may wish to visit any of the several newspaper buildings in downtown Chicago. Each of those attractions may be reached by a city bus and must be a short walk from the Sherman House. We suggest that those planning to at- tend the convention listen to a weather forecast from Chicago for a few days before they come to the pack accordingly, for there is no way to predict weather for Chicago very accurately, especially in March. It may rain, sleet, snow, or be bright and sunny with tem- peratures near sixty degrees.

Pratianis Catherine Dix contributed the following account of Rosary College. Rosary College has an enrollment of 1,200 graduate and undergraduate students. Be- sides the B.A. degree with over twenty majors there is a graduate school of Library Science fully accredited. Last year a new program was inaugurated under which fresh- men with sufficient previous background may receive the M.A. degree in four years in one of six areas. Science studies at Argonne National Laboratory, and majors in economics and political science may spend their junior year at Georgetown University for more advanced study. Rosary College is affiliated with universities in four foreign countries. The campus covers thirty-three acres on which six buildings are located. Although the college is a woman's college, close cooperation with Concordia Lutheran Teacher's College brings a male element into the student body. There are presently two Con- cordia students in the Department of Classics.

Rates for rooms at the Sherman House, the convention hotel, begin at $10.00 for single rooms and res- ervations should be made directly with the hotel on the cards which have been supplied to each advertiser. The subscription luncheon on Fri- day will be served from 12:00 to 1:00 and reservations are to be sent to Miss Catherine Dix, Rosary College, 7000 West Di- vision River Forest, Illinois 60030, before March 26, 1968.

Each chapter of Eta Sigma Phi Fraternity is required to be repre- sented by official delegates at a national convention once each six years. Each chapter has been noti- fied by the National Office of its record of attendance as recorded in that office. The Constitution also requires that a letter of regret be sent to the Meggs Grammaters by each chapter which is unable to send delegates and that this letter is to be accompanied by the annual report of the activities of the chapter. This should be sent to Meggs Grammaters John Armbrust (Kelly Hall, St. Mary's College, Winona, Minnesota 55987) by March 26. Each chapter which is officially represented at the convention will present, through its official representa- tives, its annual report, which should be prepared in type-written form to be presented to the Meggs Grammaters at the Roll Call of Chapters at the first session on Friday morning, March 29.

Chapters are further reminded that a chapter must initiate new members and report them and send their fees to the National Office at least every other year. The ad- visers have also been informed of the standing of their chapters in this matter. If your chapter is de- linquent, it should explain why this is true to the Executive Secretary at once.

At the time that NUNIUS goes to press requests for chapters to send their reports of events of Eta Sigma Phi have been received from Texas Technological College at Lubbeck and from the University of California at Irvine. Additional peti- tions are also expected.
Rosary Revisited

The date was December 3, 1907; the place, the student lounge of Rosary College; the time, 2:30 p.m. The room was rapidly filling and the sounds of joyous reunion, surprise and general good spirits were everywhere. Even the students who were responsible for making this day a success began to breathe again and to be caught up in the excitement. This was the scene of a reunion sponsored by Beta Xi Chapter for people who had not studied classics at Rosary College.

The most sought-after person was Sister Winifred Mary who had taught in the department for over thirty years. Those who had the pleasure of studying under her recalled the opportunity to see and hear her again. Those to whom she had been only a legend began to understand why she was a legend. No one stood by the door and spoke of such love and respect.

The speaker for the afternoon was Professor Alfred P. Dorrjan, now at the Chicago campus of the University of Illinois, formerly at Northwestern University. He has taught twice as a substitute teacher and in that short time earned a high place in the esteem and affection of his students. He read a paper, especially prepared for this occasion, on Cicero’s relations with his family, making the man more real and somehow more heroic than he had ever been before.

Many of the alumni who attended are married and a few are in the service. Many are now teaching or have taught. These included graduates from as early as 1908 and as recent as 1967.

Five o’clock came, and the room slowly cleared until finally only three present Eta Sigma Phi members were left to put things in order. They agreed, and subsequent comments confirmed, that everyone had enjoyed Rosary revisited.

There are not many. I like to attempt an answer, as I believe a questioner deserves one, even if it is just the answer of no answer.

Where does one begin as a North American, three parts North and one part American, when he goes off the beaten path and tries to find out about the American School of Classical Studies at Athens and the Cornith area that I happened upon (and from my point of view) where one encounters a taste for Greek food and finds his first batfiddle sentences in Modern Greek with the maids while still living in a degree of comfort which most of the Mediterranean world would associate with refinement. And, then there was the periodical sallies of increasing length into the city, the town surround-

The half-way house is really a necessity for the enthusiasts of the arts, as it seems to me, because a lot of refinement and art has to be made. The ruggedness of the terrain and the finesses of the art are frequently distorted in a very way, and it is easy to have a view that the climbs in the hot sun, in the contrary, although our knowledgeable forbears had already graduated, are not finished with their mental accomplishments, are there for us closer than perhaps we thought. The difficulties arise more often than one would have thought in passing through a modernized and truly classical, touristy, Cyclopean, we were taken through the great Lion Gate by Professor Georgios Karageorgis, director of the excavations there for many years, who put in my head a large number of ideas about what happened to the Mycenaeans as "our hosts". We walked up the grand entrance, a ramp in a kind of dim procession past the grave circles. Looking off to the right over the great reservoir, we could see the hill of Argos. From the other world, where Professor Karageorgis pointed us away from a dark forested lookout post, we saw the top of the Lion Gate and signal fires might have been lit and there we recited the watchman's speech from the great chariots as much as we could remember of it.

That is about as close as I can get to describing the trip. In the end, one comes up against the fact of the sensuous na-

ETA SIGMA PHI MEDALS

Each chapter is asked to award at least one Eta Sigma Phi medal in a local high school and in high schools near the chapter. Every effort is being made at this time to encourage the study of Latin in high schools and Eta Sigma Phi should do its part by rewarding those students who have done well in the study of Latin in high school and thus encourage them to continue beyond the second year in high school and study advanced authors in colleges. Three medals are available from the Executive Secretary and should be ordered three weeks in advance of date required.

No. 2—Alternate Fourth Year Latin Award (silver, ¾") $1.25

OFFICIAL JEWELER TO ETA SIGMA PHI
Our New Executive Secretary

Professor William L. Odom is the newly elected Executive Secretary of Eta Sigma Phi Fraternity and Editor of NUNTIUS, who will begin his duties on September 1, 1968. Professor Odom is Professor of Greek at Hampden-Sydney College and a member of Beta Theta Chapter of the Fraternity. A native of Richmond, Virginia, he received his B.A. degree with honors from Hampden-Sydney College in 1957, where he was a member of Beta Theta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi and its Prytanis, of Omicron Delta Kappa, and of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his Ph.D. in 1961 from the University of Virginia, where he was a Woodrow Wilson Fellow. His dissertation was "A Study of Plutarch: the Position of Women in the First Century After Christ."

Following his graduation from the University of Virginia Dr. Odom became Associate Professor of Greek and later Professor at Randolph-Macon College. He has been Professor of Greek at Hampden-Sydney College since 1965. In addition to being Chairman of the Freshman Humanities Staff he serves on many committees, among which are the Danforth Associates, Curriculum, Admissions and Financial Aid, Athletics, and Religious Life. He is President-elect of the Classical Association of Virginia as well as its present Vice-president. He is a member of the American Philological Association, the Archaeological Institute of America, and the Classical Association of the Middle West and South.

Professor Odom is the father of an eight-year old son and a daughter who is two years younger. He and his wife, the former Carol Hepler, are active in P.T.A. and church work. He has directed choirs at Tabor Presbyterian Church at Crozet, Virginia, and Ashland Presbyterian Church and is now director of the College Church Choir at Hampden-Sydney.

Record Attendance At Fortieth Convention

Thirty-four chapters of Eta Sigma Phi Fraternity were represented at the Fortieth National Convention in Chicago, Illinois, on March 29 and 30, 1968. This is one of the best representations which is on record. One hundred and sixteen delegates and visitors from chapters registered during the convention and there were observers from the Circle Campus of the University of Chicago, Randolph-Macon College, and Valparaiso University, Theodore Berktold, Michael W. Brinkman, Sarel Fuchs, and Sarah Uzzell, former national officers, were honored guests of the convention.

Prytanis Catherine Dix of Beta Xi Chapter at Rosary College and other members of the chapter arranged a most efficient convention. All meetings were held at the Sherman House Hotel with Megas Prytanis N. Hartley Schearer, Jr., as the presiding officer who was assisted by Megas Hyparchos David L. Thompson, Megas Grammateus John Armbrust, and Megas Chrysophylax Eddie R. Lowry, Jr. A luncheon at noon on Friday instead of the usual banquet in the evening was an innovation of the convention which proved most pleasant. Professor Alfred P. Dorjahn of the Circle Campus of the University of Illinois in Chicago, Professor Emeritus of Greek at Northwestern University and a former member of Beta Chapter, gave an interesting discussion of "Education in Ancient Greece" which he spiced with his characteristic humor. The retiring Executive Secretary, Professor H. R. Butts, was most graciously honored at this time by expressions of appreciation in word by Megas Prytanis Schearer and Megas Chrysophylax Lowry and in deed by a beautiful silver kylix and a gift certificate of

It is a great pleasure to welcome professor William L. Odom as our new Executive Secretary and to help organize NUNIUS. It has been my great pleasure and honor to serve with these capacities for the Fraternity since September 1, 1955. Now with pleasure and a forward-looking perspective, I am happy to refer younger men with fresh ideas I commend Professor Odom to you and request your cooperation in making him as successful as I have been in my new office on September 1.

I would like to mention personally and thank each one of you, the Officers of local chapters through the years who have been so cooperative, courteous, and helpful to me. I wish also to thank the members of Vulcan Printing & Lithographing of Birmingham, Alabama, and especially Mrs. Anne Smith and Mr. Bobby Munkus who have contributed so much to the success of the NUNIUS and have relieved me of many hours of work by their cooperative efficiency.

At the Fortieth National Convention the officers and members expressed their appreciation of my work. For this I am most grateful and generously. I wish also to express my very deep appreciation of my work. For this I am most grateful and generously. I wish also to express my very deep appreciation of my work. For this I am most grateful and generously. I wish also to express my very deep appreciation of my work. For this I am most grateful and generously.

We have been elected as the and in the name of each member. This has been a great surprise, but a very pleasant one, this has been a great surprise, but a very pleasant one, this has been a great surprise, but a very pleasant one, in support of the Endowment Fund and the Chapter Program of the Fraternity.

_theta Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi enthusiastically welcomed seventy delegates to its Annual Constitutional Weekend which it sponsored Feb- ruary 24 and 25, 1968. Dr. Norman T. Pratt, Chairman of the Department of Classical Languages and Literature at Indiana University and President of the American Classical League, gave the opening ad- dress in which he quite authorita- tively commented upon the status of Classics in Indiana and in the nation.

A reception was held that evening at the home of Dr. Robert Dyer, Asso- ciate Professor of Classics at In- diana University. At that time In- diana State University's "Summer Study in Rome" program was pre- sented by several delegations which participated in the program this past summer. At this time delegates had, and utilized well, the opportu- nity to get to know each other and to discuss their various classics departments. Theta Chapter's spon- sor, Professor Silvio Sceffo, hosted the gathering faculty members at a dinner party.

Sunday featured a luncheon at which Dr. Edwin S. Ramage, As- sociate Professor of Classics at In- diana University, spoke on "Roman Law and Society in the Early Republics.", Among the speakers included in this program will be: Edward Gibbons, Jr. of Latin in April initiatives will be held, fol- lowed by a banquet and a speaker. For our May meeting we will have our tradi- tional picnic at Dr. Downs' home. At the banquet we will be honor- ed, Donna Garrett, Prytane, Char- lottesville, Grammar, Virginia.

LAMHS
University of Mississippi

In addition to the monthly programs of the Classics Department, the Lambda Chi Chapter, an initiation of six new mem- bers has been held, and a spring banquet is planned. Our members assisted with the annual "Black and White" Conference held in Oxford. At the end of the conference each of our members will receive a medal to the most proficient high school student in second-year Latin, Jerry L. Fitch. Prytane, Marilee Turner, Grammar.

TAP
University of Kentucky

We are happy to have our members active in several facets of the organization. We have been successful in the past in the activities and programs that we have conducted at the university. We have had two local high school Latin teachers who at one time were lecturer at the university. We also have had a research assistant, a Classics professor who is visit- ing assistant professor of Classics for a year from Sweden. Four new members have been initiated this year and another initiation is planned for this spring. Later on this year we will be presenting awards to the outstanding Latin students in each of our chapters.

ALPHA EPSILON
Lehigh University

This year the Alpha Epsilon Chapter has continued to function and to maintain the high quality of standards set by our forefathers. The officers of the chapter have been the key to our success.

As usual in the May issue the clarion of the chapter speaks in the words of our mem- bers. This is the annual institutional Censorship and letters from chapters which were unable to attend are printed be- low. The membership has been con- sistent and this has been a great surprise, but a very pleasant one, this has been a great surprise, but a very pleasant one.

University of Iowa

Among the various projects and activities of the year was the colloquium on Latin teaching methods, held in March. A panel discussion of the various approaches to teaching Latin at the secondary level is an annual project. The discussion dealt with the methods employed and their effectiveness in comparison to the traditional and audio-lingual methods of teaching, as well as the use of Latin in the classroom. Many of these projects were held in cooperation with and the Scholarship Program of the Fraternity.

Epsilon Chapter of Eta Sigma Phi

The main project for Theta Chapter for this academic year is our "Annual Constitutional Weekend" in February. At our Constitutional Weekend, Dr. John Riggs of the Classics Department spoke on "Home Towns" and the life of Edward Gibbons, Jr. of Latin in April initiatives will be held, fol- lowed by a banquet and a speaker.
ALPHA MU
University of Missouri
The members of this chapter have an enjoyable and varied program of activities. Alpha Mu Thiel, the chapter's new permanent chapter, has been well received and continues to grow. Several events have been held to encourage membership, including a dinner at the University of Missouri and in the semi-annual magazine. The annual Christmas party was well attended, with over 50 guests in attendance. The chapter plans to continue these activities in the future.

BETA BETA
University of Washington
The BETA BETA Chapter is active in the community and holds several events throughout the year. The chapter is especially active in the month of September, with events such as the annual picnic and the Homecoming weekend. The chapter is also involved in the local community through service projects such as blood drives and food drives.

BETA GAMMA
University of Richmond
Although Beta Gamma Chapter did not participate in all the activities that the other chapters did, the chapter members were still involved in various events throughout the year. The chapter held several social events and participated in a variety of community service projects.

ALPHA CHI
Tulane University
Alpha Chi Chapter began its year with the annual convention held in Mississippi. The chapter members had an enjoyable time and continued to attend various events throughout the year.

BETA THETA
Huston-Tillotson College
In March, the chapter sponsored a joint meeting with the National Honor Society of the National Association of Women Historians. The chapter also participated in several community service projects and held several social events.

BETAS
University of South Dakota
A Beta Sigma chapter award, the Beta Sigma Sisterhood, is given to new members who have an outstanding academic record and have contributed to the community. The award recognizes the achievements of new members and the contributions they make to the community.

GAMMA KAPPA
University of Minnesota
In January, Gamma Kappa Chapter sponsored an international convention in Greece. The chapter also held several events throughout the year, including a dinner at the University of Minnesota and a meeting at the University of Illinois. The chapter plans to continue these activities in the future.

GAMMA LAMBDA
Marian College
Marian College Gamma Lambda Chapter held several events throughout the year, including a dinner at the University of Wisconsin and a meeting at the University of Wisconsin. The chapter plans to continue these activities in the future.

GAMMA THETA
Georgetown University
The Gamma Theta Chapter was active throughout the year, holding several social events and participating in various community service projects.

GAMMA IOTA
Washington College
The Gamma Iota Chapter was active throughout the year, holding several social events and participating in various community service projects.

GAMMA OMICRON
Mount Mary College
Mount Mary College Gamma Omicron Chapter held several events throughout the year, including a meeting at the University of Wisconsin and a meeting at the University of Wisconsin. The chapter plans to continue these activities in the future.

GAMMA SIGMA

of the play will be done jointly with Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honorary, and Phi Alpha Theta, national history honorary. The play, which will be given as a college chapel program, will include narration explaining the Greek dramatic concept and production. The cast and crew will be drawn from members of the participating organizations. Members from chapters of the three fraternities at neighboring colleges will be invited to attend. We hope that this effort will be well-received and that it will stimulate other organizations on campus to present more programs of this nature in the future.

DELTA ETA
Seton Hill College

Delta Eta began its activities of the second semester with a lecture, "Archilochus and Archaeology," presented by Dr. Anthony Podlecki of Pennsylvania State University. We were pleased that such a large number of the student body and faculty of the College attended the lecture. A few weeks later, members attended a lecture, "How the Romans Built Buildings," hosted by the Archaeological Institute of America. The Classics Department of the University of Pittsburgh has invited Delta Eta to attend a lecture by Professor Homer A. Thompson, "Romans in Athens," in April. The chapter is awarding eight medals for excellence in Latin and Greek to high schools in the Greensburg area this year. We shall also award a savings bond to the graduate who has achieved the highest average in Greek and Latin while at Seton Hill.

DELTA KAPPA
Carroll College

The theme for Delta Kappa Chapter's very productive year has been "Why Myth?" Reports have been given by members discussing the Zeus myths and creation myths under the title "Myth, By Jove!" Another program in the series dealt with "Myth-in the Eyes of the Beholder!" At this time members explored the role of the gods in Greek literature discussing Homer's Iliad and Odyssey and plays by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides. The January term found Delta Kappa Chapter sponsoring a trip to the Milwaukee Repertory Theatre to view a performance of "Amphytrion 38" which everyone enjoyed. Delta Kappa has also been involved in several inter-campus activities this year. Among them were: the art lecture on Byzantine Churches in Istanbul sponsored by Beta Omicron Chapter at Mount Mary College, the Fall Colloquium held at the University of Wisconsin—Milwaukee; and in hosting the Wisconsin State Convention of Eta Sigma Phi with chapters from Mount Mary College, Marquette University, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Carroll College of Wisconsin and Rosary College of Illinois in attendance. At this time plans were made for a joint initiation ceremony between the four Milwaukee chapters, as well as a joint High School Day to be held this spring at Mount Mary College.

DELTA LAMBDA
College of the Holy Cross

The Classics Honor Society in conjunction with the Classics Department were the sponsors of a Classics Sampler at the College on April 6, 1968. The program included all phases of study of the Classical Latin and Greek languages. The program included an opening invocation, three undergraduate lectures, two slide lectures, and lectures on epigraphy, archaeology, and textual criticism. The day was concluded with a banquet. Over two hundred college and high school students from the New England and New York areas attended.

DELTA MU
Illinois State University

This year for the first time Delta Mu Chapter had programs presented by the active members dealing with topics of their personal interest. We found that this method of programming worked really well. Some of the topics were concerned with the signs of the Zodiac—their origin and meaning, and Pliny's account of the eruption of Vesuvius. This last topic was presented as an example of introducing literature to a high school class by means of tape and other audio-visual materials. Delta Mu has also been active in the formation of an organization called Olympus, the purpose of which is to promote honoraries on the campus of Illinois State University. Delta Mu members also will be acting as hosts for the inauguration of the University's new President, Samuel Erden.
